

Dear Members of the Penn State Law and SIA Community,

As President Barron announced in his email tonight, Penn State plans to “resume campus-based residential instruction, work and other activities this fall in a limited fashion.” I will be in touch in the coming days with more details about our planning at Penn State Law and SIA. I did want to confirm, though, that both Penn State Law and SIA currently plan to begin the semester with their previously announced timing; Penn State Law begins the semester ahead of the rest of the university with orientation on Aug 17 and start of classes on Aug 19, while SIA has orientation on August 20 and begins classes with the rest of the university on August 24.

I look forward to discussing fall planning on Tuesday, June 16, at 7 pm, at the Information Session on the Fall and will plan to have regular sessions throughout the summer to provide additional updates.

In addition, the University is hosting two virtual town hall meetings next week to answer questions from the community about the fall semester with as much information as is currently available (faculty and staff on Friday, June 19, 3:30-4:30 and students and families on Monday, June 22, 3:30-4:30). Both town halls can be viewed online at <https://liveevents.psu.edu/>. Questions can be submitted anonymously via separate online Google forms for faculty and staff and students and families.

Best,
Hari Osofsky
