

Dear Members of the Penn State Law and School of International Affairs Community:

We believe it is critical to be on record as a law school and international affairs school community condemning racist violence, police brutality, and systematic racism against Black men and women and committing to take action. I appreciate the leadership of Professor Wadhia, Dean Purvis, and the Penn State Law Diversity Committee in developing this open letter that can be signed by Penn State Law and School of International Affairs students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

I am signing this letter and I hope you will consider signing on by or before 5pm EST on Thursday, June 11, 2020 using this link. We will publish the open letter with signatures on the Penn State Law and School of International Affairs websites and social media. It will be a living letter, and we will continue to add people who sign after Thursday.

Thank you for your consideration. My thoughts are with those individuals and families grieving during these times.

Warmly,
Hari
